Invisible Bench

Cub Scout skit · simple props · About 1 minute

Scouts settle onto an imaginary bench. When the last Scout says it was moved, everyone suddenly loses their seat.

Cast	Props	Length	Best for
4-8 Scouts	None	About 1 minute	Any den

Setup

- Scout 1 starts in a shallow squat, facing the audience as if seated. Reserve the last Scout as the bench mover; that Scout never joins the seat.
- Scouts 2 through the next-to-last enter one at a time and sit beside Scout 1. Leave enough space for the rehearsed pretend fall.

Script

SCOUT 2	What are you doing?
SCOUT 1	Sitting on this invisible bench.
SCOUT 2	Can I sit with you?
SCOUT 1	Sure!
STAGE NOTE	Scout 2 joins the pretend seat. Each remaining sitter repeats Scout 2's questions; Scout 1 repeats the answers. The bench mover enters last and stays standing.
BENCH MOVER	What are you all doing?
ALL SEATED	Sitting on the invisible bench!
STAGE NOTE	The mover points to a different spot.
BENCH MOVER	But I moved it over there this morning!
STAGE NOTE	On "morning," all sitters cry "Whoa!" and pretend the seat disappears: lower carefully into a seated position on the ground. The mover stays standing. Hold for laughter, then get up and exit.

LEADER NOTE

Rehearse the ending first on clear, level ground: a controlled sit-down, never a backward drop. Use shallow squats and quick entrances. Where sitting down is unsuitable, dip lower and throw hands forward as if losing the seat. The reaction goes DOWN, not up; the missing support is the punchline.

Printable handout for any pack or den. Adapted from a traditional skit; wording and staging revised.
Reference: BSA - Roundtable Planning Guide, 2015-2016

Clean Socks

Cub Scout skit · simple props · 1-2 minutes

Each Scout seems cleaner than the last. Then twelve pairs turns out to mean one pair per month.

Cast	Props	Length	Best for
5 Scouts	Clean socks optional	1-2 minutes	Wolves and older

Setup

- One helper faces the audience. Scouts 1-4 queue beside the helper in number order.
- Each Scout steps forward, answers, takes a pretend bundle of socks, then stands aside. Keep the last answer a surprise.

Script

HELPER	Fresh socks! How many pairs do you need?
SCOUT 1	Two. I wear one pair all week while the other is in the wash.
HELPER	A whole week? Phew! Here you go. Next!
SCOUT 2	Four pairs. A fresh pair on Monday, Wednesday, Friday, and Sunday.
HELPER	That's better! Here you go. Next!
SCOUT 3	Seven pairs, please.
HELPER	One clean pair every day?
SCOUT 3	Exactly!
HELPER	Now that's clean! Here you go. Next!
SCOUT 4	Twelve pairs, please!
HELPER	Twelve? Even cleaner! Why twelve?
SCOUT 4	One for January, one for February, one for March...
STAGE NOTE	Pause. The helper looks shocked; the other Scouts react in disbelief. Hold for laughter, then everyone exits.

LEADER NOTE

Rehearse each turn: step forward, answer, collect socks, step aside. The helper reacts with disgust, relief, approval, admiration, then shock. Say the months proudly and slowly; stop at March. Explain privately that monthly changes are the joke: change socks daily and when wet or dirty.

Printable handout for any pack or den. Adapted from a traditional skit; wording and staging revised.
Reference: Scout Life - 10 Funny Campfire Skits

The Viper Is Coming

Cub Scout skit · simple props · About 1 minute

Scouts expect a scary visitor. A cheerful window cleaner arrives, and the audience hears what "viper" really means.

Cast	Props	Length	Best for
5 Scouts	Cleaning cloth	About 1 minute	Wolves and older

Setup

- Assign Scouts 1-4 as messengers and Scout 5 as the window wiper. Only the wiper uses W-to-V pronunciation.
- Scout 1 enters first. Each messenger gives a warning, then stays in a nervous huddle facing the entrance. The wiper waits out of sight with a cloth.

Script

SCOUT 1	The Viper is coming!
SCOUT 2	I heard the Viper is heading this way!
SCOUT 3	Look out! The Viper is almost here!
SCOUT 4	Here comes the Viper!
STAGE NOTE	The messengers huddle back. The wiper walks in calmly, holding the cloth, and smiles at them.
WIPER	Hello! I'm the viper. I've come to vipe your vindows!
STAGE NOTE	The wiper starts polishing an imaginary window. The messengers look at the cloth, then at one another as they understand. Hold for laughter, then everyone exits.

LEADER NOTE

Teach the reveal first: "wiper, wipe, windows" becomes "viper, vipe, vindows." Use an exaggerated W-to-V accent only for the cleaner; say the line slowly and cheerfully. No sign is needed. Rehearse entrances in order, keep warnings brief, and let the last word land before the reactions.

Printable handout for any pack or den. Adapted from a traditional skit; wording and staging revised.
Reference: Scout Life - 10 Funny Campfire Skits